NEW POLITICAL FRONTIERS FOR ROMANIA

POLITICAL PROGRAMME OF The Progressist Diaspora Party (PDP)

„Change is compulsory. Progress is optional”

RATIONALE

The progress of Romanian society represents an aspiration of the Romanian people who joined the 1989 Revolution and of Romanian people so called „sacrificial generations” from all times in history.

The amplitude of the moral and political crisis in Romania, particularly visible in the last two decades, is generated, amongst other elements, by the poor quality of political actors. The reform is imperative and demanded by the citizens who desire better integrated principles and higher competency. Complete depolitisation of public administration and simplification of bureaucracy in the service of citizens is a must. Of equal importance is the complete independence of justice. We are responsible for our people, particularly for the new generation of Romanian people, in the context of the European Union.

The new generation must undertake common efforts towards common targets, to set up a real process of development. From a state of non-competitiveness and inferior, corrupt society we must strive to obtain a superior state, functioning in all domains.

Romanian people struggle with poverty, mass-emigration, unemployment and humiliation. The reforming process naturally includes valuable material and human resources from old political regimes, simultaneously bringing in new elements.

THE PDP VISION

The Progressist Diaspora Party (PDP) firmly assumes the option to build the Ethocratic State.

We define the Ethocracy as necessary political principle including the elements of classic democracy, bringing new elements in order to generate reform of the Romanian and European politics. The area of political praxis should always be governed by Ethics. We define Political Ethics as true implementation of the respective political theory. We understand that the fundamental political responsibility, governed by any political ideology, is represented by the complete dedication to practical functionality of respective theory, always in the interest of the public. We define political competency as both academic/professional preparation and moral qualities or, natural inclination towards guarding the common interest. This specific inclination must be visibly proven on public stage, recognised and accepted by the civil society. Personal interest should come last. Personal wealth should never exceed the limits of equitable comparison with the poorest members of the society.

We are convinced that the political roles within the state must have one main objective: the real protection of the superior interests of the state and of its citizens. In the area of logic, the position of Ethocracy is general and the principle of Democracy is specific. In the area of political morals, the Ethocratic State is far superior to the democratic state. The Ethocratic State protects the functional hierarchy of all human and political values and generates harmony amongst all social roles. The state we strive to build is imposing full social order and sufficient wealth for all citizens, expressing in real time maximum transparency and zero tolerance towards corruption.

The Ethocratic State does not recognise the existence of social classes founded on economic principles. However, it recognises several Categories of Human Nature – moral and intellectual attributes capable of performing Ethics in the service of all, protecting the Common Good. The Ethocratic State places the economy in the service of citizens. The unique role of the economy is to ensure a decent standard of living for all human beings. The Ethocratic State establishes healthy democratic rules, well defined from a pragmatic/judicial-procedural point of view, using accountable Ethical procedures in the service of all citizens.
